Planners Discuss Proposed Kinzua Dam Area Highways

By BETTY RICE
Proposed highways to Kinzua Dam and Allegheny Reservoir came up for informal discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the Warren County Planning Commission.

While no action was taken, commission members heard from Ralph Freeman, Allegheny National Forest supervisor, who questioned the State Highway Department's intentions to construct a four-lane highway to Kinzua Dam in conjunction with the proposed Route 6, Warren by-pass (two lanes at first and two later), to be built in an area which would require an entire hillside to be razed. Freeman stated that since he was in Harrisburg to confer on other matters, correspondence and telephone calls indicated the possibility of a two-lane limited access highway from Warren to Kinzua Dam plus retaining, improving and maintaining Route 59 to the Dam, thus providing access to the Dam and Reservoir via both roads.

According to Freeman, this proposal would call for one lane each way to and from the area in question and would provide a way of getting out of the rough curved area now in the existing alignment. It was Freeman's opinion such a highway plan would adequately service traffic to the dam while any major cross-country thoroughfare would be a problem. A well-known area outdoor writer noted that to put in a four-lane highway was not the proper approach to Kinzua Dam.

Rockefeller Blasts Nixon On Vietnam, Big Cities
CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller launched a two-front attack Thursday on Richard M. Nixon, calling him a "false prophet" on the war in Vietnam and a losing candidate in the big cities of America.

For the first time in his campaign, Rockefeller mentioned Nixon by name.

Poor People Disrupt City Traffic
WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People's campaigners staged their first extensive acts of civil disobedience Thursday, jamming evening rush-hour traffic at several busy intersections and blocking entrances to the Department of Agriculture headquarters building.

The demonstrations by some 300 persons were carried on in the absence of top campaign leaders, who arrived afterward to cool the crowd and send most of them back to their encampment at Resurrection City. Washington's deputy police chief, Jerry V. Wilson, said at least 65 persons were arrested and at least two were taken to hospitals. As about 250 demonstrators arrived back at their encampment near the Lincoln Memorial, police fired at least one tear gas bomb. Witnesses said the group had become unruly crossing the last street before they arrived at the camp.

Man Pays "Supreme Price" For Becoming Involved

GRACEVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A dairy worker aiding a wounded policeman paid what a police chief Thursday called "the supreme price" for getting involved: His son was taken hostage by a mental patient and shot to death. The mental patient, a sawmill worker home on his sixth furlough from the state hospital, also was wounded. Joseph E. McCants, 29, was tracked down in an Alabama forest just across the nearby state line three hours after he wrestled a gun from Patrolman Horace Patterson and shot the officer in the head, Graceville Police Chief Clyde Pelham said. Between the first shooting and his capture, police said, McCants wrecked four motor vehicles, stole another gun, and robbed two persons.

The dead boy, Francis Lee Fortune, 3, was found by police at the edge of the woods where McCants was captured. Officers chasing McCants said he carried the child under his arm and then tossed the body aside as he ducked into the trees, McCants surrendered moments later. McCants was charged late Thursday with first degree murder of the Fortune child, two counts of armed robbery and two counts of assault to murder, according to William G. Baxley, district attorney in Houston County, Ala. "We're alleging that he shot the child," Baxley said. Alabama State Investigator J. R. Pate said an autopsy showed the boy died from one shot through the back of his head. The bullet was not recovered. Virgil Fortune, 33, manager of Price's Dairy, was passing McCants' home in a truck when he saw McCants struggling with Patterson, who had come to arrest him on a disorderly conduct warrant, Pelham said. "He heard Patterson calling for help," Pelham said. "He left the children in the truck, telling them to lay on the floorboards. 'He did all he could. He risked his life, and suffered losing a child and two others injured. That's the supreme price

Some Movement In Peace Talks Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, reporting "some movement" in the Paris talks on Vietnam, suggested Thursday those U.S.-North Vietnamese sessions may be moving out of the public propaganda stage toward private negotiation. Clifford, one of President Johnson's key advisers on Vietnam policy, told a news conference: "When we get to the stage that private talks are taking place . . . then I believe we will begin to make some progress."

Meanwhile, the defense secretary reported that "North Vietnam has chosen to increase the flow of men and material" into South Vietnam in a bid to put pressure on U.S. negotiators in Paris.

The price, he said, has been an increase in both U.S. and enemy casualties into a range of 400 to 500 a week in American losses and close to 5,000 a week in Viet Cong and North Vietnamese battle deaths. "There is a very real question as to how long they would choose to submit their military force to this extreme degree of attrition," Clifford said. In May, Clifford said, it is estimated that infiltration from the North into South Vietnam totaled some 29,000 men. This is nearly twice the 15,000 infiltration figure for April cited recently by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, outgoing U.S. commander in Vietnam. About 26,000 of the 29,000 infiltrators in May are replacements for battle losses suffered by the enemy, Clifford said. In June, July and August, he estimated, the North Vietnamese will send down 20,000 men a month, also mostly replacements rather than reinforcements with increased troops over previous enemy strength levels. Despite the reported high level of North Vietnamese infiltration on men and material, Clifford indicated that the U.S. troop commitment will not go beyond 550,000 as currently planned. The total already there is about 534,000. Asked about the possibility of resuming full scale bombing of North Vietnam, Clifford hinted strongly that the present limitations, ordered by Johnson on March 31, will be kept in effect as long as there is hope that North Vietnam may reciprocate and thus move closer to a negotiated settlement.

House Passes Tax Hike And Spending Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed Thursday the long-fought bill to increase by 10 per cent the income tax take and to impose a $6-billion spending cut. The long-embattled bill passed on a 268-150 roll call. The vote was a bitter-sweet victory for President Johnson. He urgently sought the added revenue, more than $15 billion from the surcharge and accompanying tax changes, to fight inflation and bolster the dollar. But he sought almost to the end to scale down the $6-billion mandatory spending cut Congress attached to it. The Senate is scheduled to vote about noon Friday and is expected to send the measure to Johnson for assured approval. Fifteen days after the President signs it, increased withholding begins for U.S. wage and salary earners.

Within minutes after the House acted, Johnson issued this statement: "The House of Representatives today declared itself for a responsible fiscal policy. Its voice will be heard around the world. Our democracy has passed a critical test. This is a landmark decision—to help safeguard the pockets and pocketbooks of all Americans from the pilferage of inflation—to help insure a healthy flow of credit through our economic system; to help defend the value of the dollar at home and abroad—to sustain our remarkable 88-month record of economic advance."

Rocket Bombardments Kill Six Vietnamese Civilians

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon was hit before and after Thursday midnight by rocket barrages that killed six Vietnamese civilians and wounded 14, the U.S. command said Friday. Ten rockets hit on or near Tan Son Nhut airbase but most casualties occurred in residential areas. No American deaths or injuries were reported and South Vietnamese military casualties on the base itself were described as very light. A spokesman said five rocket rounds slammed into the Saigon area a few minutes before midnight and another five landed about 1 a.m. He said five of the ten had been identified as 107mm rockets. The others had not yet been identified, but they were believed to have been 122mm. The midnight shelling were the heaviest bombardments of the capital in 10 days. For the past several days, there had been neither shelling or barrages of such minor nature that it was felt the threat was eased. The enemy firing positions were said to have been north of Tan Son Nhut and about seven miles from the heart of the capital. The 107mm rocket, of Chinese manufacture, weighs 48 pounds and has a range of five to six miles. The 122mm rocket, Soviet designed, weighs 102 pounds and can fire 6.8 miles. The U.S. Command said one round hit several hundred yards from the U.S. Army's 3rd Field Hospital and the South Vietnamese joint general staff headquarters just outside Tan Son

Nhut. But U.S. officials had no information on casualties or damage. Vietnamese sources said at least four 122mm rockets blasted residential areas near Tan Son Nhut. A witness said two rockets landed near the city's Seventh-day Adventist Hospital and that 12 wounded were taken to the hospital. Vietnamese sources said initial reports indicated two of the civilians killed were children. Before the new shelling, authorities said that Saigon and its suburbs had enjoyed their quietest day Thursday since the enemy launched its offensive on May 5. Terror shelling since that date had killed 114 civilians and wounded 503, the officials said. U.S. officers believe the shelling are intended to show strength and thus influence the U.S.-North Vietnamese peace talks in Paris.

In another development statistics released Thursday on combat casualties showed that the number of Americans killed in 7½ years of the Vietnam war has climbed past the 25,000 mark.

House Committee Okays Gun Control Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee voted Thursday to outlaw mail-order sales of shotguns and rifles and to clamp tight controls over the sale of all ammunition. Responding to the national outcry for gun controls following the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the committee voted 29 to 6 in favor of the legislation. Only last week it deadlocked 16-to-16 on the same measure and never before has it been able to muster a majority for such a bill. The Senate Judiciary Committee also was scheduled to act on the legislation Thursday but postponed its vote until next Thursday because several senators were absent. The House committee acted about 15 hours after President Johnson signed into law an anti-crime bill containing a ban against mail-order sales of handguns and urged Congress to extend the prohibition to shotguns and rifles. Chairman Emanuel Celler, D.N.Y., wheeled into the committee room a shopping cart that was spilling over with what he described as mail demanding strict gun controls. All 15 committee Republicans voted for the bill. Last week only two supported it. The six votes against it were cast by Southern Democrats: Reps. Robert T. Ashmore of South Carolina, Jack B. Brooks of Texas, John Dowdy of Texas, William M. Tuck of Virginia, Basil L. Whitener of North Carolina and Edwin E. Willis of Louisiana. Besides banning mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns, the bill would prohibit their purchase by anyone who is not a resident of the state of sale, or anyone under 18. The newly enacted handgun provisions are similar except that no one under 21 can buy them. Celler said one of the most significant features of the bill is its restriction on the sale of ammunition. It would prohibit all mail-order sales of ammunition except between licensed dealers, prohibit the sale of handgun ammunition to anyone under 21, and prohibit the sale of long-gun ammunition to anyone under 18. Celler said he would act quickly to prepare the bill for floor action. House procedures make it unlikely the bill could be voted on before next Wednesday or Thursday.

Tourist Booth Opens Today On Route 6

An official tourist information booth where visitors to the Kinzua Dam area may get information about Warren and Forest Counties opens at noon today under the sponsorship of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau.

The center has been located on U.S. Route 6, Pennsylvania Avenue West across from the St. Joseph Church in Warren along the banks of the Allegheny River. It will be open from noon to 8 p.m., seven days a week from now until September.

Three local college students will be in charge of the booth and give out information and literature to travelers who stop. The center will also serve as a clearing house for camp ground accommodations and will advise visitors as to where there may be openings in the area for tents and trailers.

The young people working in the booth include Bruce Tortelott, a Junior at Purdue University; Vickie Stainbrook, a Senior at Edinboro College; and Anne Archibald who graduated this spring from Muskingum College.

Roy Schneck, vacation bureau president, said that brochures and other literature from attractions and camp grounds in both Warren and Forest Counties are needed at the booth and invites proprietors to furnish a supply for distribution.

"The more information we have on hand, the more we can be of service to those who drive into our area looking for places to stay and things to do," Schneck said.

The small structure being used for the booth served as Santa's home last Christmas and was made available for the summer by the Warren County Chamber of Commerce.

Planning

and expressed concern that such a highway would spoil the aesthetic value of the area. He said that he has talked to many persons who come to Warren County and talked of its beauty. These same visitors, he stated, (and he has tape recordings) have advised him the roads in this county are better than other areas where people come to camp.

Planners learned that solid waste disposal in several of the county's municipalities is posing a definite health hazard. Most disposal companies either utilize the land fill method or partial burning plus land fill. The need for a coordinated program and a "good land fill program" was emphasized.

It was also reported the State Department of Health has stated present operations are not according to standards. Several items came up for zoning review including a request from Interstate Amiesite who purchased an asphalt making plant near Mineral Well, east of Warren, from Wyoming Sand and Gravel Co. The latter was granted a variance and permit to operate for one year. Planners approved that a recommendation be forwarded to the Zoning Board of Adjustment that a new permit not be issued until Interstate Amiesite issues a statement as to how long the firm expects to be in operation.

A petition from 32 residents of Mead township opposing rebuilding of the Jerry Spetz saw mill (which burned down), unless proper incineration is installed was acknowledged but no action taken.

A proposal and design from New Holly Apartments to increase their apartment area was studied and discussed. Planners will request a site plan and map be submitted showing actual scale. The question was also raised as to what happened to the proposed swimming pool and open space recreation area designated in Holly's original proposal.

No action was taken regarding an ordinance change to provide apartments in Russell, presumably for the aged as eyed by the Office of Economic Opportunity Community Affairs group in that area involving the old Russell school building.

It was moved that efforts be concentrated to plan a better working arrangement between the planning commission and township supervisors in regard to highway plans, zoning changes and other pertinent matters such as mobile homes and subdivisions. It will be suggested a 15-day waiting period be observed to give supervisors the opportunity to express their views and know what is transpiring before instead of after action is taken.

A letter from Northern Allegheny Conservation Association requesting preservation of an historical row of trees along Route 279 in the Sugar Grove area on the Arthur A. Swanson property, was fully endorsed by the commission. There was some possibility the same 60 varieties of trees might be demolished by highway construction.

Planners were congratulated by the U.S. Forest Service on the master plan, the latter being termed a major asset. The Forest Service pledged full cooperation with the plan.

Four subdivisions were reviewed but no final action taken Thursday night.

GRAND PRIZE

Trailer sales, right, from whom the trailer was obtained; and Jon Chiodo, co-chairman of the grand prize committee. The two other prizes to be given away during the celebration are a 1968 Ford Torino and a Sylvania color television set. (Photo by Mahan)

Runaway Diesel Races Through Nine Towns

KINSLEY, Kan. (AP) — A runaway two-unit diesel locomotive plowed into an open switch east of Kinsley, Kan., Thursday and came to a crashing halt after racing 98 miles through nine towns at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

No one was hurt. The unmanned locomotive rolled westward out of the yards at Hutchinson, almost hit a pedestrian and two automobiles, then rammed a track supervisor's motor car at the edge of town and took off along the branch line of the Santa Fe. "The brakes were so hot they were putting out clouds of smoke," said Harold Crain, the track supervisor. "The sparks from the brakes started grass fires for a mile or two along the tracks, then the brakes burned out and the engine really took off."

Crain, who had received clearance to inspect the tracks, stopped his motor car when he saw the engine coming.

"I lifted one end of my car off the tracks, but I could see there wasn't time to finish it, so I just stepped back and waved it good-bye," Crain said. He estimated the engine's speed at 50 miles an hour when it shattered his motor car.

Highway patrolmen, sheriff's officers and city police, alerted by radio, raced along the highways ahead of the speeding engine, setting up roadblocks to keep unwary people off the crossings.

One patrolman, on the highway between Great Bend and Larned, said he was going 80 miles an hour and the engine was outrunning him.

Four Members Of Family Satisfactory

All four members of the Harold Venman Peterson family, hospitalized following a one car crash on Zimmerman Hill rd. about a mile east of Warren Wednesday, are reported by a hospital spokesman, to be in satisfactory condition.

Harold Peterson and his wife Glenda were admitted to the hospital with facial lacerations and injuries, while their daughters six year old Shelby sustained a broken leg and Heidi suffered possible head injuries.

Poor People Campaigners Stage Civil Disobedience

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poor People campaigners staged their first acts of massive civil disobedience Thursday, tying up rush-hour traffic at a busy intersection and blocking entrances to the Agriculture Department headquarters nearby.

Demonstrators sat in the middle of Independence Avenue and 12th Street. A heavy force of police rushed in and dragged them bodily to the curbs.

Earlier the protesters had blocked entrances to the Agriculture headquarters building, sitting and singing until police lifted at least 50 of them into vans and buses.

Just after those arrests, about 100 more campaigners arrived from their nearby Resurrection City encampment and marched around the building, singing.

Then, police spotted the sit-down demonstrators at the intersection of the two main thoroughfares and rushed in to haul them away. Traffic resumed. But then about 100 more demonstrators came to the scene of the intersection sit-down, led by

Painting Project

Blocks Off Traffic

Parking was blocked off on the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue and the east side of Market street Wednesday as borough street department workers painted traffic lines and marked parking spaces.

Weather permitting, according to borough manager Victor L. Miller, the north side of the avenue and west side of Market will be blocked off today (Friday) for the same purpose.

Mendes-France Attacks Gaullist Foreign Policy

(C) N. Y. Times News Service GRENoble, France—Former premier, Pierre Mendes-France, Thursday night attacked the "nationalism and chauvinism" of Gaullist foreign policy and predicted that the Gaullists would lead the country into "permanent disorder" if they won the election.

He charged that during 10 years of Gaullism, President de Gaulle has been authoritarian ruler who failed to consult not only the citizens, but even his cabinet ministers, and whose recent promise of worker and student participation in public affairs could not be taken seriously.

He deplored France's condemnation of Israel and her prac-

a contingent of young men who were running. Some of the new group also sat down in the intersection and police hauled them out of the street.

Man Injured In Cycle Accident

A 20-year-old Warren man was admitted to Warren General Hospital Thursday with injuries sustained when he was struck by a car while riding a motorcycle on Pennsylvania ave. E. near Lacy School.

John L. Schumann, 77 Miller Hill rd., Warren suffered a fractured right leg and body bruises in the 6:42 p.m. accident, according to a spokesman at Warren General Hospital.

According to borough police, Schumann traveling west on Pennsylvania ave. E. when a car operated by Mrs. Alfred Schaffer, 609 West st. pulled out of Marion st. and struck the right crash bar and gas tank of the motor cycle. The impact, police stated, threw Schumann from the machine to the pavement where he rolled approximately 81 feet under the right front fender of an east bound car. The east bound car, police stated, foresaw the accident and had come to a stop.

Warren borough Fire Dept. was called to the scene to flush spilled gasoline from the pavement. Schumann was taken to Warren General Hospital by North Warren Ambulance.

Total damages in the mishap were estimated at $1050, according to police.

Diary Lost In Battle Returned

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — Orville A. Kensler's diary, abandoned when the Germans launched the Battle of the Bulge, will be returned to him Saturday, ending a 24-year search.

It began when a priest, wandering through the forests of Luxembourg after the fighting subsided, found the book. The owner's name was missing.

The story might have ended there except that Kensler, in one diary entry, predicted he would be killed and hoped the book would be sent to his family.

The priest kept the log until 1953 when he sent it to a retired Army historian, who noticed that Kensler had mentioned his outfit, the 28th Infantry Division, now the Pennsylvania National Guard.

The historian contacted Pennsylvania Adj. Gen. Richard Snyder, who assumed the author had been killed and ordered a search for the next of kin.

Usually only first names were mentioned in the diary, but there was one Eddie Kropp. It was Kropp's name which provided the key clue.

At one point in his diary, Kensler had written: "We got up early to go to Columbus, Ohio, I never in my life hated to say goodbye to anyone as I did Cindy (his wife). I love her beyond words, I was so blue and had such a lump in my throat that I couldn't talk."

The search shifted to Ohio where a retired draft board official at Bellefontaine recognized some of the names, particularly Kropp's.

Finally, Kensler's brother was located and he explained that the author was alive, still in the Army and at Ft. Knox.

"It's amazing," said Kensler, now a master sergeant whose decorations include the Bronze Star and two Purple Hearts.

The Guard, now in training at Watertown, N. J., will fly Kensler there Saturday for a special ceremony.

He will be able to review the pages from his past but not for long. The Guard wants the diary for its museum at Boalsburg, Penn., and Kensler thinks that's the place for it.

Minority Rule

While the public is fully aware of the threatening aspects of poverty, war, ghetto problems, and disregard for the law, they seem to be less aware of one insidious practice that tops any of these as a threat to the American way of life—even Democracy itself. This is the growing influence of minority groups at both state and federal levels to pressure legislative bodies and bureaucratic agencies to perform actions that are detrimental to the majority.

In the past few years this form of "minority rule" has been advanced to the point of becoming an accepted science. Definite techniques have been formulated to override the thinking processes of legislators and agency directors almost in the same manner that Madison Avenue techniques are credited with controlling the minds of our product-buying masses.

Letter writing campaigns are organized. Releases are flooded to the news media. Senators and congressmen are contacted; either to solicit their vote for a specific bill, or to bring pressure on the concerned governmental agencies. And of more recent origin, protest marches and sit-ins are staged.

The system works.

But only because of the widespread apathy of the general public. The average citizen is willing to sit back and let any and all minority groups gain their goal so long as the gaining of that goal in no way works to his personal disadvantage. He is unconcerned that it may not be the will of the majority, that his apathy is indirectly supporting rule by a minority. That, in effect, he is contributing to the eventual downfall of our Democratic system—when the final outcome will be very personal.

The Work Addict

WASHINGTON — Dr. Nelson Bradley, an Illinois psychiatrist, has just revealed that the United States is being swept by an epidemic of work addiction.

A work addict shows all the characteristics of an alcoholic or narcotics addict. He has a driven craving for work, develops an increasing tolerance for it and suffers withdrawal symptoms without it. Dr. Bradley said, like other addictions, this often results in medical and social problems, including bad family relationships with depressed wives and children.

I showed the article to my wife to show her how farfetched psychological theories were getting these days. "Have you ever heard of anything so ridiculous?" I asked. She didn't smile. "Will you take the children to the movies this afternoon, so I can get some housework done?"

"I can't, I have to write a piece for the Ladies Home Journal," I said instantly.

"All right, but don't forget we've got to go to the beach next weekend."

"How can I go to the beach when I haven't read Time and Newsweek?" I said panicking. "You can read them some other time. You've got to relax once in a while."

"Who says I don't relax? Look how relaxed I am right now?"

"Then why don't you take that typewriter off your knees?" she demanded.

"A little work never hurt anybody," I said. "I only do it to be sociable."

"If you don't want to think of me, why don't you think of the children? How would you like it if someone said your father was a work addict?"

"I'm not a work addict," I cried. "I do a little work in the morning and a little work at night, and maybe some in the afternoon. But it's only to soothe my nerves. I could give up work tomorrow and not even miss it."

"Since it's Sunday, why don't you try it?" she suggested. "All right, I will."

Sunday morning I woke up and grabbed a football.

"Anybody want to play?" I asked at breakfast. The entire family looked at me suspiciously.

"I'm not kidding," I said. "I feel great. I haven't done a lick of work since I got up. I'm not even going to read the Sunday papers."

We tossed the ball around for a half-hour and suddenly my mouth began to go dry and I started to perspire. I quit the game shaking, and started for my library. When I got there I was shocked. My wife had hidden all my typewriting and carbon paper.

I became frenzied. "What did you do with my paper?"

"I locked it up," she said. "Just give me one sheet," I begged. "I've got to have a sheet."

"No," she said. "I'm doing it for your own good. You'll never lick the habit if I give in to you now."

I went upstairs and tried to take a nap. But every time I closed my eyes I could see fearsome editors crawling out of the walls with pencils in their sharp teeth.

I woke up screaming and my wife rushed in.

"One lousy piece of paper," I begged her. "I'll never ask you for anything again."

She took pity on me and unlocked the drawer. "I know I shouldn't do it, but I can't stand you in this state."

I grabbed it and rushed for the typewriter hungrily.

"What are you going to do?" "Maybe I'll write a story on that crazy psychiatric report I showed you yesterday."

Sixteen firemen got soaked but happily so, and on water only, when the Russell fire department emerged unconditionally from the art of chasing a beer keg around with a hose.

MASON DENISON

And The Rains Came

Following appointment by Governor Shafer this week of three members to the new "Weather Modification Board", quips were heard aplenty around Capitol Hill — and perhaps not without good reason.

Denison

One of the prime objects of the new board is state regulation of rain-making activities, with the agency empowered to license persons who seed clouds with the idea of making it rain. (A $50,000 bond will be required to cover damages, just in case there's too much of a down-pour.)

Following the gubernatorial appointment there was some comment among lawmakers that it might be well to amend the act setting up the board — to provide not only for rain-making but also rain-stopping.

"What we need right now," quipped one of Pennsylvania's more forthright legislative brethren, "is not more rain but some way to stop or taper off the deluge with which we've been smitten this spring."

Unquestionably it has been an unusually wet spring for Pennsylvania, so much so in fact that the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service this week noted that rain has fallen somewhere within the state on 50 of the last 58 days. Perhaps the functions of Pennsylvania's new "Weather Modification Board" should be re-evaluated.

RAIL TO AUSTERITY (ETC.) — Government press agents have made much ado over some sort of austerity program supposed to be in effect among department and agencies on Capitol Hill, yet a look at almost any budget shows an increase — including the administration's own $2 billion spending proposal for the upcoming fiscal year.

Perhaps typical of the "austerity" movement afoot on Capitol Hill today is the pronouncement issued the other day by the General State Authority (the State's borrow-and-build agency).

It was noted therein that the board of the GSA had approved a budget of $8,208,917 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. "This budget," said the GSA announcement, "is in keeping with Governor Raymond P. Shafer's recently imposed capital austerity program."

What was the budget for the preceding year — that would be the current 1967-68 fiscal year? $8,116,500.

Again — obviously reflecting the austerity theme, there was this sentence near the bottom of the mimeographed pronouncement:

"A total net increase of 117 employees occurred during fiscal 1967-68." ( )

HORSING AROUND THE TRACKS — Although Pennsylvania is one of the younger states when it comes to racing nags around the oval, attendance-wise the Keystone State ranks right up there.

In fact, of 17 states which today have harness racing (the only kind in this state as yet; thoroughbred has been authorized but no tracks are in operation) Pennsylvania last year ranked third in attendance, according to a report by the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee.

Top attendance state on the harness racing front was neighboring New York State at 8,970,124. Second place went to Illinois at 3,207,306, with Pennsylvania trotting in third at 1,786,103.

Insofar as revenue turned over to the states is concerned, (harness racing only) the same rankings hold firm, with New York State first at $70,314,792; Illinois second at $14,094,587; and Pennsylvania third with $6,839,270.

The number of harness racing days in each state would seem to be tied in with the attendance — revenue figures. Top-ranking New York State had 984 racing days, second place Illinois, 357 days, and Pennsylvania, 248 days.

Buffalo, where their daughter, Carol, one of the semi-finalists in the Voices of Tomorrow won top honors in the contest.

Playing on a frigid, windswept and heavy course at Conewago Valley Country Club, Mrs. T. W. Fisher, former women's champion, belted a drive with extreme accuracy — neatly into the cup on No. 7.

When the Antique Automobile Club holds its national spring meet at Lake Forest, Ill., there will be no more stylish conveyance than the smart Cadillac which will carry William F. Crossett of Warren to the victories.

PEARSON & ANDERSON

TV Violence Erupts Again

WASHINGTON — During the national anguish over Sen. Robert Kennedy's assassination, the TV networks suddenly got nervous about video violence and tried to clean some of the bloodshed off the home screen.

ABC's spy series, "It Takes a Thief," dropped two assassination plots. A sniper scene was discreetly edited out of the FBI series, ABC also hastily juggled episodes of "The Avengers," "Guns of Will Sonnett" and "Man in a Suitcase" in favor of something less homicidal. NBC and CBS made similar shifts in episodes of "Bonanza" and "Mannix," respectively.

Yet the networks, after a decent period of mourning, have now resumed their full schedule of violence. And they have already lined up two dozen shows for next season featuring gunplay, brutality, sadism and terror.

The National Association for Better Broadcasting estimates that the average child between ages 5 and 15 watches the violent destruction of more than 13,400 persons on TV.

"Most are gunned down," reports Frank Orme, the association's executive vice president, "but fire, rape, poison, acid, spiders, snakes, crocodiles, pitchforks, knives, time bombs, live steam, poison gas, hypodermic needles and an assortment of heavy blunt instruments are all used to add spice and variety and thrills to the spectacle of death."

He fears this mass mayhem is destroying children's natural capacity for sympathy and impressing them with the need for a powerful, totalitarian figure to protect them.

"Today's television," Orme says, "teaches children that violence is fun, evil is powerful, and the world around and beyond us is full of unknown terrors. Our cherished institutions and concepts are weak and subject to imminent destruction by callous brutes. To survive we must delegate the job of protection to powerful, single-dimension individuals who disregard the non-violent, democratic processes."

For all their remorse over the slaying of another Kennedy, the networks have made clear that they will continue to glorify gunplay as long as it wins mass-audience ratings and sponsors' dollars.

Apparently the only way concerned parents can keep their home screens fit for children is to retaliate against the sponsors who pay for TV violence. As a start, we have asked the Better Broadcasting group, which has kept a critical eye on TV for 17 years, to list the ten shows most harmful to children. We have looked up the sponsors who keep these shows on the air.

1. THE AVENGERS, ABC, Wednesdays. This show, which the NABB calls "horrific" and "disgraceful," has been sponsored by American Home Products, American Tobacco, Armour, Beecham, California Prune, Carnation, Champion Spark Plug, Colgate-Palmolive, DuPont, General Electric, Goodyear Tire, S.C. Johnson, L&M Tobacco, Mennen, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Polaroid, Procter & Gamble, Seven-Up, Sterling Drug, Studebaker, Sunbeam, Wm. Underwood, Warner-Lambert, and Yardley of London.

2. FELONY SQUAD, ABC, Mondays. The NABB calls this "a vicious, excessively violent and morbid show." It has been sponsored by AC Spark Plug, Armour, DuPont, L&M Tobacco, Noxell, Schlitz Brewing, Shell Oil and State Farm Insurance.

3. GUNS OF WILL SONNETT, ABC, Fridays. This is described by NABB as "a shoddy western" that is "highly objectionable for children." Its sponsors have included AC Spark Plug, Bell Telephone, Brown and Williamson, Carter-Wallace, Colgate-Palmolive, Cool-Ray, R. T. French, International Playtex, Levi Strauss, Plymouth, and State Farm Insurance.

4. CIMARRON STRIP, CBS, Thursdays. "An hour of savagery, everything from near-rape to brutal revenge, a very bad show for youngsters," says the NABB. The sponsors have been Alberto-Culver, American Motors, American Oil, American Tobacco, Anheuser-Busch, Beecham Products, Block Drug, Buick, Colgate-Palmolive, Formula 409, Gallo Winery, General Foods, International Playtex, S. C. Johnson, Norwich Pharmacal, Charles Pfizer, Polaroid, Procter & Gamble, R. J. Reynolds, Shell Oil, Speldel, Sterling Drugs, Union Carbide, United Airlines, Volkswagen, and Warner-Lambert.

The list of TV horror shows is lengthy; too long to be carried in full here. More will be listed in a future column.

Meanwhile, it should be noted that only rarely has the Federal Communications Commission taken exception to TV programming. Ordinarily the FCC automatically renews a TV license when it expires at the end of the three-year period. Two FCC commissioners, Kenneth Cox and Nick Johnson, recently issued a scathing indictment of their fellow commissioners for this automatic renewal policy.

President Johnson has a vacancy to fill on the FCC right now and can greatly improve TV programming by picking a commissioner who will side with the present Johnson-Cox minority.

In most countries TV channels are owned by the government, not private individuals. Thus most crime programs are kept off the air. Significantly, in no other country in the world is either the juvenile delinquency rate or the crime rate as high as in the United States.

One way to change this, without resorting to government ownership, is for the public to exert its influence on the companies which sponsor crime and horror, by both writing them and refusing to buy their products.

JAMES RESTON

Not So Secret Weapon

NEW YORK — After 20 years in Washington, Hubert Humphrey can still laugh at his problems. He is that rare character, a deadly serious man with a sense of humor, and when all the shouting is over about the race, he carefully directed his remarks to internal rather than foreign policy and when he was invited to draw a distinction between his views on Vietnam and the President's, simply said:

"One does not repudiate his family in order to establish his own identity. . . . Hubert Humphrey as Vice President is a member of the team, Hubert Humphrey as president is captain of the team. There's a lot of difference."

It is true that Humphrey is supported for his party's presidential nomination by the political pros, the labor union leaders, most of the southern governors, and quite a few big business leaders, the strangest collection of bedfellows since the invention of the double bed. But it is also true that he has this support primarily because of his record and his personality; in fact, sometimes in spite of his statements about the war and domestic policy.

His achievement of the last 20 years in the capital is that nobody is really mad at him personally. Many people disagree with him. Many more are disappointed in him, but he does not inspire personal hostility among his political enemies the way, for example, President Johnson does.

Gene McCarthy and Robert Kennedy fought him but not because they didn't like him. Even the old conservatives in the House and Senate who thought he was a wild radical in the 40's and 50's found him personally attractive. Humphrey himself dislikes Richard Nixon—and even im-pertinence, but Humphrey not only risks it but almost gets away with it.

When he came back into the race after the Kennedy funeral, he carefully directed his remarks to internal rather than foreign policy and when he was invited to draw a distinction between his views on Vietnam and the President's, simply said:

"One does not repudiate his family in order to establish his own identity. . . . Hubert Humphrey as Vice President is a member of the team, Hubert Humphrey as president is captain of the team. There's a lot of difference."

But even so, Humphrey is so different from Johnson and from most of the other leaders in this administration that even most of the critics of Johnson's team are willing to give Humphrey the benefit of the doubt. He is a blithe spirit in a solemn time and he is still amazingly fresh.

He is not either physically or mentally exhausted. He has not been forced to administer a single department in the last four years and is therefore not stuck in a bureaucratic rut. He is not repudiating the administration, but he is not saying he approved of everything it did either, and by noting that he sometimes gave advice when it wasn't wanted, he managed to suggest that maybe he had some ideas that weren't always acceptable to his boss.

Anyway, no Republican, and certainly not Nixon or Rockefeller, is likely to minimize the importance of Humphrey's personality in this election. Oddly, it does not come through on television with the same impact as it does in the flesh, but it is there and it could easily prevail in the end, despite the policies he says he supports.

It is unlikely that rates will sink back in the foreseeable future to the levels of the 1940's and early 1950's. In retrospect, these rates stand out as abnormally low, a reflection of first, a catastrophic depression and then the wildly inflationary financing of a global war. It is also unlikely, though, that rates will remain at the heights of 1966-67-68. Even as we live through the rate spiral, we recognize its abnormality.

We'll probably return to an area between the abnormal lows of the 1940-50's and the abnormal highs of the late 1960's. Whoever you are, take advantage of the prospect.

Second, it will cut the Federal budget deficit and thus, as the year rolls on, the Treasury will not be continually tapping the money markets for such enormous sums to cover its bills.

Third, it will help slow the pace of the economy's growth and as the economy's fever subsides, there will be less of a rise in the demand for money and less upward pressure on the cost of money.

In these months, we have seen interest rates soar to the highest levels since the Civil War. Our state usury law ceilings of 6 per cent have become obsolete; even the Treasury's new high rate of 4 1/4 per cent on U.S. Savings bonds is held for almost seven years is painfully low compared with the 6 per cent coupon it placed last month on a marketable note due in seven years; money has been available but at extremely stiff prices.

It is unlikely that rates will sink back in the foreseeable future to the levels of the 1940's and early 1950's. In retrospect, these rates stand out as abnormally low, a reflection of first, a catastrophic depression and then the wildly inflationary financing of a global war. It is also unlikely, though, that rates will remain at the heights of 1966-67-68. Even as we live through the rate spiral, we recognize its abnormality.

Your Money's Worth

Interest rates are now in their peak range for this era.

With the tax bill becoming law and our economy heading into a slower phase of growth, the odds are that interest rates will level off and ease from the 100-year high recently recorded. This will be so even assuming the Federal Reserve System continues to keep a tight rein on credit to fight the wage-price spiral. Now what does this mean to you?

AS A BORROWER: If you must borrow money now for a major project and you have no flexibility in timing your loan, shop as never before for the best deal you can get. Try to keep your loan maturities as short as feasible so you can renegotiate the loan at better terms to you when the borrowing climate shifts more in your favor.

If you want to borrow money but you have some flexibility in timing the project to be financed, wait a while. You should get enough of a better deal on rates and terms as 1968 winds up and 1969 begins to offset further increases in costs.

If you are borrowing money to build or buy a home, try to get a mortgage which includes the privilege of prepayment at minimum or no penalties so you can refund it when credit becomes more available and rates go down. Housing costs are climbing so rapidly and relentlessly that cost increases probably would more than absorb any gain you might achieve through waiting for lower mortgage rates.

If you are shopping for loans, consider borrowing temporarily against your life insurance policy at the comparatively more favorable rates insurance companies offer. But do this with the fixed goal of repaying your insurance loan when you can again borrow elsewhere freely and at inexpensive rates.

AS A SAVER: If you have cash to put in a savings institution, try to nail down today's historically high rates of return on savings certificates and similar instruments for the longest period appropriate for you. Compare the returns available at various institutions in your area and take the most favorable for you.

If you have cash to invest in bonds—U.S. Government, U.S. Government — guaranteed, corporate or tax-exempt—consider investing at today's juicy rates of return in a wide range of maturities. You can easily get returns of 5 per cent and more on highest-grade tax-exempt bonds (equal to 10 per cent and more to taxpayers in the 50 per cent tax brackets.) You can get returns of up to 7.8 per cent on good corporation bonds. The U.S. Treasury recently placed 6 per cent coupons on notes due in 1969 and in 1975.

The key to this appraisal is the tax increase, of course. First, it will permit the Federal Reserve to ease credit a bit. At least the Federal won't continue to tighten further and this alone will be a major psychological factor.

Second, it will cut the Federal budget deficit and thus, as the year rolls on, the Treasury will not be continually tapping the money markets for such enormous sums to cover its bills.

Third, it will help slow the pace of the economy's growth and as the economy's fever subsides, there will be less of a rise in the demand for money and less upward pressure on the cost of money.

In these months, we have seen interest rates soar to the highest levels since the Civil War. ## Sports of The Times

Arthur Daley

KAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. — In the pattern of the ghost of Hamlet's father, the spectral figure of Cassius Clay hovers somewhere in the background whenever Joe Frazier provides drama with his fists. It may come as a surprise to the unfrocked heavyweight champion of the world to learn that his disembodied spirit is currently haunting the Borsch Belt as Joe's private spook.

Frazier is now heading into the closing stages of his conditioning exercises for a 15-round bout of practically championship dimensions with Manuel Ramos of Mexico at Madison Square Garden on Monday. Recognized by five important states as Clay's successor — Jimmy Ellis is recognized elsewhere — the heavy-handed Philadelphian is solidly favored to grind the Mexican into a powdered tamale.

Ostensibly Frazier is training for Ramos just as he prepared for his other 20 professional foes. Joe beat 'em all, 18 by knockouts. None had any permanence in his plans, however. The guy he really has been training for all these years has been Clay. It's part of a plot devised by Yancey (Yank) Durham, his gravel-voiced trainer.

"We took dead aim at Clay," rumbled Yank, and pointed toward him from the first time I took over Joe. We weren't ready for him then but we are now.

"Because training for Clay works so well, it's something that we want to keep, least ways until Clay is no more."

Yank's voice grew positively sepulchral when he intoned about Cassius being no more. He didn't explain it. Probably he means until Clay is in the clink and hence totally out of circulation. This bout, by the way, will be Frazier's final fist-cuffing joust of the year.

"Unless Ellis or Clay are willin' to fight me," said Frazier sleepily. "I'll come back to the ring fast for either or both. But nobody else interests me enough."

Joe was sprawled on a bed in his room at the Concord Hotel, hands clasped behind his head. He was wearing an outrageous color combination, red velvet trunks and a bright orange T shirt.

"Don't knock my orange T shirt," he said good naturedly to his visitor. "I happen to like it."

After awhile, though, he lumbered to his feet and fumbled in a dresser drawer. He whipped off the orange shirt and pulled on an infinitely more harmonious baby blue T shirt.

"You didn't like my orange T shirt," he said. "Does this make you happier?" It did. He toppled back on the bed.

"I'm quittin' after two more years," he said.

Okay. Suppose Cassius suddenly became available as a foe at that time. Would he stay retired?

"No, siree," said Joe. "I'd unretire fast. I'd love to fight Clay."

"We'd beat him, too," said Yank, using the managerial plural. "Clay wouldn't be difficult the way I have the fight planned. Every man Cassius fought gave him room to maneuver. The way to fight him would be to cut down the size of the ring on him."

"I'd step to the side at an angle to cut him off," said Joe. "It's something you have to know how to do or he escapes in the other direction."

He spoke confidently of the fight that probably never will take place. But what sort of acceptance might there be if Cassius were jailed as a draft dodger?

"I don't think the gate would be hurt," said Yank, the basso profundo. "Even before this happened, people flocked in to see Clay beaten. Now they'd want to see him beaten even more and Joe is just the guy who can do it."

"By then I'll probably be a singer," said Joe. "I'll have the rest of this year to give my singing career more attention. I'll learn to read music and maybe even take singing lessons. I'll tell you one thing. I don't want my son to be a fighter like his old man. One in the family is enough."

"There are other ways for him to make money — movies, recording, lotsa ways. Or he could be a doctor or lawyer. That would take longer but would be geared for a longer run. As for me, I'm gettin' out after two years more."

That remains to be seen. Heavyweight champions, even partial heavyweight champions, have a pipeline into Fort Knox. Ellis, the World Boxing Association champion, would be a big money match.

"Ellis never fought a puncher like Frazier," snorted Yank.

"You take 'em," said Joe. "I'll fight 'em."

Thus far it has been a productive system.

Sheffield Tavern Plays Upset Role in Slo-Pitch

An upset victory by the Sheffield Tavern over the pennant contending Towne and Country night clubbers highlighted the Slo-Pitch League action. The Taverners have downed both the second place, Warren Sub Shop and now the T&C to play the role of the spoilers.

In issuing the loss Sheffield allowed the idle City Ice and Beverage to move a full two games in front of the field. Goldthwaite outlasted Don Baldensperger on the mound in the 6-5 affair.

"Punky" Anderson's two-run homer made the difference for the Tavern. Baldensperger did as much as could be expected when he drove in three runs on a pair of triples.

Warren's Sub Shop kept in the thick of the race by swamping the Surf Club, 6-1 on Don Baldensperger's and Jim Ostergard's four-hit pitching performance. Larry Bearfield and Chuck McDermont accounted for the early five run lead at the end of the three by connecting with a homer apiece. Jim Dahler was the starting and losing hurler for the Surf. His double was the only extra base knock on the losing books.

A twelve run fourth and fifth inning was all the DeVore's Keystone needed to dump the hapless State Hospital 469ers, 12-3. Gary Rain found himself down 2-0 at the end of three before his backers came alive.

Jim Olson led the hitting department with a two-run homer in the fifth. Jim Stanton and Gene Smith timed a double apiece in the fifth off of losing hurler, John Colvin. John Henry's homer was the 469ers only extra base hit of the game. R.W. Norris with the help of Dave Hammersley's two home runs dumped the Rex-Chain Belt, 15-6. Bear Eagle was the winning hurler over Doug Marshall. Dan Rosequist helped Engle out a bit with a three-run blast.

Racing Commission Studies Licensing

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Horse Racing Commission has scheduled a meeting here July 10 to hear testimony from organizations interested in securing a thoroughbred track license.

An act, approved last December, legalized thoroughbred racing in Pennsylvania and created the three-member commission to award four track licenses.

Still and Devlin Lead Canadian

TORONTO (AP) — Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash., and Bruce Devlin of Australia shot three-under-par 67s Thursday to tie for the first-round lead in the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Still missed a big chance to grab sole possession of the lead when he three-putted the 18th hole after Devlin scored his sub-par round by scrambling out of the rough on practically every hole.

U.S. Girls Lose in Golf

PARIS (AP) — The European women's golf team, led by powerful little Catherine Lacoste clinched a 10½-7½ victory over the United States Thursday by winning three of the second day singles matches and tying another.

The European selection started the day with a 5½-3½ advantage over the U.S. team that won the Curtis Cup from Great Britain in Northern Ireland last week.

The morning foursomes were split evenly with one victory each and one tie Thursday, to leave the Continentals ahead 7-5.

The Europeans then won the first three singles in the afternoon to assure the victory.

Sun and showers sprinkled the 6,573-yard par 72 St. Cloud course during the day, and heavy rain fell at the start of play. After a clear spell, the rain came back briefly in the afternoon.

Miss Lacoste won both her singles matches and one of the two foursomes in which she played.

Laver Shines In London Tennis Tourney

LONDON (AP) — Rod Laver, the world's top money winning tennis player, eliminated Charles Pasarell of Santurce, P.R., 21-19, 6-2, Thursday and gained the semifinals of the London Grass Courts Open Championship at Queen's Club.

The two-hour drama took place indoors on a wooden court because of rain.

The first set was the longest any professional has had to play since open tournaments began. It was a battle of booming services fought before an excited crowd of 400 tightly packed in the narrow galleries.

Clark Graebner of New York City, served like a demon and eliminated Roy Emerson, 32-year-old Australian pro, 11-9, 6-3.

Graebner lapsed in his service only once when Emerson broke him in the third game of the second set. Apart from that the American's service looked invincible.

A third American, Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., went out 11-9, 6-3 to Alexander Metreveli of Russia, who plays most of his tennis on wooden surfaces.

Tom Okker, the Dutch amateur, defeated Peruvian born professional Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-4.

That left Laver the only pro in that semifinals out of the 12 who started play Monday. He will meet Okker Friday and Graebner will play Metreveli.

Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., is the only American in the women's semifinals. She defeated Valeri Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif., 6-3, 6-3. Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., went out 4-6, 2-6, to Australian Mrs. Margaret Smith Court after leading 4-2 in the first set and 2-0 in the second.

Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain defeated Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Richey now will face Britain's Winnie Shaw who advanced when Judy Tegart of

Cornplanter Stays Hot In Warren County Trap

Cornplanter continued its torrid pace in the Warren County Trap League, shooting 124, one less than a perfect score, Pine Creek with 123, and Brokenstraw with 122 were close behind. Kalbfus shot 122, losing to Pine Creek by one.

Jack Kostkas of Cornplanter ended his long run at 113. Several shooters have 75+ runs.

Vern Ecker of Brokenstraw and Lynn Kramer of Kalbfus shot their first 25 straight this week.

Tony C. Hears Good News

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, the sidelined young slugger of the Boston Red Sox, said Thursday doctors have advised him that the condition of his injured left eye has stabilized and given him hopes that he may be able to return to action next year either as an outfielder or as a pitcher.

"I've just received the first optimistic news I've heard since I was beamed," Conigliaro said after a two-hour examination performed by Dr. Charles D.J. Regan at the Retina Associates Clinic.

Conigliaro said he plans to start working out at Fenway Park in a day or two. He said he'd engage in pepper games for the first few days and will probably start to take swings at the plate by the time the team returns from its current road trip next Thursday.

In this week's matches, the final scores were:

Cornplanter, 124; Echo Valley, 117. Pine Creek, 123; Kalbfus, 122. Pine Grove 120; Sheffield, 113. Brokenstraw, 122; Sugar Grove, 116.

Wattsburg to Broadcast Race Films and Results

Larry Parmenter, Director of Wattsburg Speedway, believes in creating new race fans, and stopping all arguments on results.

He's achieving this by having WVCU TV channel 12 air an edited race by race film each Saturday afternoon, featuring the results of the Friday night card.

Fighter Dies Of Ring Injuries

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Jupp Elze, German middle-weight boxing champion died Thursday, eight days after he collapsed unconscious during a fight for the European title.

A spokesman for Cologne's University Clinic said the cause of death was a collapse of his blood circulation.

Elze's wife, Helga, had been called to her husband's bedside Wednesday when his circulation showed first disruptions.

The 28-year-old boxer never regained consciousness after he collapsed in the 15th and final round of his title bout against Italy's Carlos Duran, who was awarded the fight on a TKO.

The program, filmed at the track and narrated by WVCU Sports Director, Bill Knupp, captures all the thrills and excitement as it happens.

Parmenter says, "We're doing this not only to show people that stock car racing is a thrilling spectator sport, but also to let our fans review the races they saw in person. Spills, thrills and wire finishes are all recorded and fans tell me they really believe the races when they see the film on Saturday afternoon following the ball game. They have also remarked about getting a kick out of seeing themselves on TV. The close-up zoom lens really gets in on the action, and the fans."

Wattsburg Speedway races get underway tonight at 8 p.m., Mike Ecker, Ron Blackmer, "Squirt" Johns, Jim Sloan, all featured circuit drivers, will be on hand to battle for points and the guaranteed purses, totaling more than $4,630.00—largest of all area purses!

Fans attending tonight's card can tune in WVCU-TV tomorrow and see the results. Wattsburg Speedway is located on Wattsburg Fair grounds, Route 89, 18 miles south of Erie.

Life Insurance Agents Urge Premiums Be Held

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., agents, now on strike, are urging policyholders not to pay their premiums while the strike is on.

Some 7,000 agents are involved in the strike.

Agents are reminding policyholders that any Metropolitan agent calling at a home is strike-breaking. Persons who must pay premiums to protect insurance values should send them to: Charles A. Siegfried, Pres., Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 1 Madison Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10010.

Further support can be given to the agents by writing to the above address.

The agents feel that they must strike to gain the same financial benefits for their families as they have for customers. In asking for support they remind everyone that "the company is not a closed corporation controlled by a few bigwigs. . . the company is owned by the policyholders—you and your neighbors."

Transplant Recipient Reported Fair

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Ernest L. Salaskis Jr., accomplished in death the "one thing great" he had hoped for in life.

When the 22-year-old apprentice welder lost his life, victim of a weekend motorcycle accident, he helped prolong another.

For while he lay dying in one hospital, a 25-year-old Ohio woman lay in another across town, dying of a liver ailment.

Roylene Salaskis, 21, said doctors informed her of the Ohio woman's plight as she visited her husband Monday afternoon. They explained that the woman could not live without a transplant, she said.

Mrs. Salaskis said her husband had always wanted to do "one thing great" in his life. "You know, people usually have a goal," she said. "This was his goal."

So, with the consent of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Salaskis Sr., she agreed that her husband's liver could be used in the transplant operation. Salaskis died early Tuesday, about 27 hours after the accident.

Doctors at the University of Colorado Medical Center, where the transplant was performed, did not identify the recipient, but said she was in fair condition following the surgery early Tuesday. In keeping with hospital policy, neither would they confirm that Salaskis was the donor.

Mrs. Salaskis said she and her husband had discussed the possibility of organ donations prior to the accident. "This way he partially lives on in the young girl," she said Wednesday.

In addition to the Ohio woman, six other persons are known to have survived liver transplants — a 6-year-old boy in Boston Monday and the others here.

Mellon Family Hold Biggest Family Reunion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Fifty members of the Mellon financial dynasty held their biggest ever family reunion Thursday. They had to cross the Atlantic to do it.

They came to Ireland from all parts of the United States for Friday's official opening of the little thatched cottage which 150 years ago was the birthplace of Thomas Mellon, founder of the family.

Thomas Mellon sought and found his fortune in the new world. Now some of what he left his heirs is being plowed back into his native soil as a lasting memorial to his name.

Prime Minister Terence O'Neill threw open the parliament building at Stormont for a big welcome-home party Thursday night.

He will be there Friday when Dr. Matthew Taylor Mellon, present head of the family, dedicates the Mellon Ulster home-stead at Camp Hill, Mountjoy, near the market town of Omagh, 80 miles west of Belfast.

Dr. Mellon 71, a retired professor of art history, has been the prime mover in getting this great-grandfather's cottage restored. He raised $250,000 from among the Pittsburgh family to set up a trust to preserve old Scotch-Irish homes with American connections.

President Johnson Expresses Pride in Foreign Policies

(c) N. Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — President Johnson expressed pride in his foreign policies last night—including his course in Vietnam—and combined his statement of self-defense with a jesting taunt of educators who have often condemned his course.

"How times change," Johnson remarked to a foreign policy conference for education leaders at the State Department. "I suspect I ought to ask some of you for a battlefield report this evening."

"I'd be interested to know how the pacification program is doing—how much progress you are making in reform—how things are going in the outlying buildings, and whether you still hold the central administration offices."

Even without reports from the campus, Johnson said, it is clear that American education, like the country itself, is undergoing rapid change. And change is rarely comfortable he remarked, because some grow impatient with the pace of change and violently reject the system they wish to transform while others cling tenaciously to things as they are.

In between, Johnson said, there is a "vast legion of people" who want a better country and a safer world and who know that sacrifices must be made to keep obligations to the poor at home and to allies abroad.

For 20 years, he said, this legion of Americans has supported a great and costly effort in world affairs, avoiding the extremes of isolationism and of seeking solutions in "massive military victory."

This has not stopped violence in the world, he said, "but in an age of nuclear danger it did help to give mankind two decades of relative peace—relative to what might have been."

When the struggle in Vietnam ends, the President noted, this group of thoughtful Americans must again decide what role to play in the world. He expressed hope that educators would participate in that decision by laying out the alternatives and weighing the costs and benefits of different courses.

"I hope that you will examine the path we have taken and judge, as best you can, what would have happened if we had taken another," Johnson said. "In my judgment we can be proud of what we have done in this time of tumultuous change. I hope you will make it possible for another president to say that, with the same conviction, two decades from today."

Legislation To Change Law-Making Machinery

LONDON (AP) — You can see the peers of the realm reclining, even sometimes snoring, on the red plush benches of the House of Lords. It's a very clubby atmosphere. Members address each other as "my noble lord," and mumble "content" or "not content" with voting.

This is the house of Parliament that Prime Minister Harold Wilson proposed Thursday to reform by "comprehensive and radical legislation" that, among other things, would eliminate the hereditary right of nonelected peers to help make the nation's laws.

Wilson announced all talks with the opposition Conservatives and Liberals about such reform have been abandoned and the Labor government will offer the legislation soon on its own.

The House of Lords consists of a little over 1,000 peers. About 100 of these are life peers, the ones who cannot pass on membership to their descendants. These are the active members. The remainder are hereditary peers, but only about 100 of them attend sessions regularly, collecting three guineas or $7.56 for each day of attendance.

The House of Lords has been declining for years as a tool of power in British politics, but it has always retained vestiges of authority in the legislative process.

The latest blow by the Lords was the nine-vote defeat Tuesday of a government order to increase pressure on Rhodesia's breakaway government. This was the reason for Wilson's action.

It is indicative of the Lords' current lack of power that the negative vote, according to the rules, did not kill the order. But it is equally indicative of the Lords' residual influence that the vote embarrassed the Labor government enough to awaken demands to curb or kill House of the Lords altogether.

Despite the furor about the Rhodesian vote, the House of Lords as a whole is more representative of the public than it was a generation ago.

This is because of the introduction in 1958 of the life peers — active politicians and public figures who have been rewarded for service to people or party with the title of "life baron."

The controversy centers on the voting powers vested in the hereditary peers, people who hold this power for no reason other than that they were the eldest sons, closest relatives or, in a few cases, daughters, of their predecessors.

Tipsy Drivers To Breathe Into New Device

HARRISBURG (AP) — Drivers suspected of intoxication will get a chance to breathe into a new machine, State Police Commissioner Frank McKetta announced Thursday.

The device, which state troopers are training to use under a joint state-federal project, eliminates the need for professional chemical analysis, McKetta said. Unlike the current method, which requires a chemist to analyze the results, the new device will measure the degree of sobriety reflected in a driver's breath right on the spot, allowing the state policeman administering the test to testify in court.

"It will give our men a faster and more accurate method for determining the blood alcohol in any driver suspected of being under the influence," Col. McKetta said.

The first-year cost of the program was set at $113,098, with the federal government paying 50 per cent. The program is under the direction of the Federal Highway Administration a division of the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Students Say Movement Reflects Best of Both

BELGRADE — Yugoslav students are convinced that their protest movement reflects the best of western and communist societies.

Talks with Belgrade University students indicate they have no basic doubt about Yugoslav society, in contrast to the questioning of values by students at Columbia University or the Sorbonne.

The belief in the perfectibility of Yugoslav society was evident among students who took part in the recent sit-in here before President Tito in effect silenced hostile voices in the Communist Party and championed the students' demands as his own.

"Don't get us wrong," a bearded student said, "all of us are furious at the silly things in Yugoslavia."

But the almost complete lack of fear by the students in Belgrade over possible expulsion or criminal prosecution underlines the distance Yugoslavia has traveled toward becoming a tolerant society.

Belgrade students, well versed in the arrests, expulsions, dismissals of professors and the punishment of the parents of student leaders carried out earlier this year in Poland, feel that such retribution is illustrative of "totalitarianism."

The use of the term also reflected the progress many Yugoslav students believe their country has achieved since Tito broke with Stalin and pulled Yugoslavia out of the Soviet Bloc in 1948.

"What happened in Poland was a reaction to the unsocialist behavior and actions and decisions there, which ignored the basic principles of socialism," a law student remarked.

Court Upholds Commission's Authority on Discrimination

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Common pleas court upheld Thursday the city's Commission on Human Relations' authority to forbid racial discrimination in apartment rentals.

Judge Maurice Sporkin specifically upheld the commission's right to end racial discrimination in the apartments owned and operated by Chase-Walker Co., and Barrington Management. Barrington had appealed to the court to overturn a commission order.

Clarence Farmer, the commission's executive director, said, "New legal force for the commission stems from the court ruling."

Farmer said the ruling "is likely to have great impact in reducing discrimination in Philadelphia, inasmuch as many realty agents will use the court ruling as a guide in setting rental policies."

Underlying the protest movement of the Belgrade students was the belief that Tito was sure to break his silence and favor their demands.

"If Tito had turned his back on us," a law student said, "we might have well lost faith in our system and become as alienated as students elsewhere."

Much of their assurance was rooted in the constant airing of many of the students' demands by progressives in the party from Tito on down—and in the satisfaction of some of their grievances in the past.

Specific Belgrade University complaints range from such classic demands as better rooms and better food to resentments against Yugoslavs who have amassed fortunes in disregard of "socialist principles."

"When a man has bribed and lied his way to having 100 trucks," a medical student said, "then he is guilty of speculation equivalent to legal theft."

Lawyer For Accused Slayer Ray Begins Defense Preparations Here

LONDON—Arthur J. Hanes, the former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., who described himself as a "pretty fair country lawyer," arrived in London Thursday to prepare for the defense in the United States of the accused slayer of Martin Luther King.

Silver Certificate Owners In Last Minute Selling

NEW YORK (AP) — Silver certificate owners crowded coin shops Thursday in a last-minute drive to sell their $1, $5, and $10 bills for more than their face value.

The government has said that after Monday it no longer will redeem the scarce bills for silver bullion or granules. They will, however, continue as legal tender.

Dealers, who have been paying premiums ranging from 2 cents to 90 cents on the dollar during the nearly year-long silver certificate boom, have begun slowing their buying for fear they may not have enough time left to exchange the bills for silver. Many are lowering their premiums as the deadline draws closer.

"We paid $1.55 for a $1 silver certificate Wednesday," said

His client, James Earl Ray, alias Ramon George Sneyd, is in Wandsworth Prison, awaiting an extradition hearing next Thursday. It was regarded as unlikely that Hanes would be permitted to see Ray.

Hanes, who arrived with his 26-year-old son and law partner, Arthur J. Hanes Jr., refused to say who would be paying for his services.

"I work for money but I will not tell you who will pay," he said. "I cannot discuss the fees. I have the faith I'll get by and I'll make expenses."

Speaking to reporters at the Royal Lancaster Hotel in London, Hanes said he received a letter from "R. G. Sneyd" last week asking him to represent him if the extradition efforts by the U.S. Government succeed.

"I don't know how he heard about me," said Hanes. "I've never met anyone by the name of Sneyd, Ray or any of the other aliases."

"But I think I'm a pretty fair country lawyer and my client must think so too," he reported that the letter was sent by "R. G. Sneyd" on June 10 from Brixton Prison, in southwest London, to the Birmingham Bar Association with the request that it be forwarded to the former mayor.

Hanes said he received it June 14 and decided to take the case: "This case is a challenge," Hanes said, "I like to go where the action is."

The 51-year-old former Mayor said he recognized that he could have nothing to do with the pending action against Ray in Britain and agreed it would probably be difficult for him even to see his client. But, he said, he wanted to talk personally with Ray's lawyers in London.

Two of Ray's lawyers, Michael Dresden and Michael Eugene, sat beside Hanes at the meeting with reporters, an uncomfortable role for British lawyers who customarily shun publicity and rarely make public statements during a case. As expected, they referred all questions to Hanes.

Asked for his thoughts about the late Dr. King, who was murdered in Memphis on April 4, Hanes replied:

"I've seen him and I've met him. As far as I'm concerned his business was his business and mine was mine. I don't knock anyone's kick."

On the question of whether he was a segregationist, Hanes replied that he did not believe in labels.

"You don't label liberal lawyers 'integrationist,'" he replied. "This question doesn't enter into this case. My views on civil rights are too far afield here."

Hanes represented the Ku Klux Klan members accused of the 1965 highway murder in Alabama of Mrs. Viola G. Luzzo of Detroit, a white worker for Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Asked if he had any information about a possible connection between his client and the Klan, Hanes said he had "no knowledge of the Klan and wouldn't know if my client was a member."

"I don't join organizations myself," Hanes said. "I don't join right-wing groups or left-wing groups. Just the Lions Club and the P.T.A."

W. German Head Charges Soviets With Hypocrisy

BONN — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger of West Germany blamed the Soviet Union Thursday for the latest threat to the Berlin access routes and charged the Soviets with hypocrisy in claiming they seek to reduce world tensions.

Speaking during a parliamentary debate on the new East German rules governing traffic between West Germany and Berlin, Kiesinger described the new rules as "illegal" and a danger to cooperation and detente in Europe.

The Soviet Union approved these measures although it professes to espouse the cause of peace and relaxation of tensions throughout the world, the chancellor declared.

Kiesinger said that East Germany could not have imposed the new rules, which include visa requirements for West Germans and West Berliners traveling through East German territory and a new transit tax on goods transported by West German and West Berlin carriers, without the explicit approval of the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union must have its attention emphatically drawn to the dangers that would arise if the present course is continued," the chancellor said to an applauding Bundestag.

The chancellor reiterated that Bonn must work together with its allies to obtain a "withdrawal" of East Germany's new obstructions to free access to Berlin. He also accused the East German government of seeking recognition as a sovereign state by "brutally" trying to destroy the German will for unity.

"In reality, East Berlin is demanding the capitulation of the majority of Germans to a dictatorship of a minority," the chancellor said.

He added, however, that Bonn intended to pursue its policy of detente in Europe despite the East German and Soviet provocations. The West German government, he declared, remains ready to exchange declarations with other communist countries, including East Germany, that they will not use force against one another.

Despite a considerable amount of heated rhetoric, the theme of detente ran consistently through Thursday's debate.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, for example, accused the East Germans of "indulging in an excess of formalism, malice and chicanery." But he added that "Bonn's policy of detente will not be changed by attempts to block it."

Herbert Wehner, Minister for All-German Affairs and deputy leader of the Social Democratic Party, declared that those who believed the latest East German restrictions on access to Berlin did not constitute a Berlin crisis, were practicing "self-deception." Brandt, who is chairman of the SPD, said at a news conference Thursday that the current situation is "certainly not" a Berlin crisis.

Government sources said today that Bonn is hoping that the NATO ministers meeting in Reykjavik, Iceland, this week end will produce a joint statement of solidarity with Berlin by the NATO states.

These sources also expressed surprise that the NATO permanent council in Brussels decided Thursday to impose new regulations on East German travelers to NATO countries through the allied travel board in Berlin. They noted that Brandt indicated only Thursday that no final decision on countermeasures would be taken by the allies until the Reykjavik meeting.

Judith Repine Married To James Whyte On June 15

On Saturday, June 15, the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Clarendon was the scene for the marriage of Judith Ann Repine and James Joseph Whyte. Approximately two hundred guests were present as the Rev. Meredith Swift read the double ring wedding rites.

Mrs. Ann Lutes was at the organ while Mrs. Meredith Swift sang "On Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." Candelabras and pastel flowers with ribbons decorated the altar for the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Repine, RD 1, Clarendon. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Whyte, 611 W. Fifth ave., Warren.

The bride, accompanied by her father, appeared in a white floor length sheath of Chantilly lace over taffeta, with a small train. The gown was fashioned with a square scalloped neckline and scalloped sleeves. White satin shoes, short white gloves, a single strand of pearls and pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, completed the bride's outfit. Her floor length veil fell from a butterfly crown and was trimmed in pearls. The bride carried an arm bouquet of white roses with white satin streamers.

The bride's sister, Miss Jeanne Repine, was the maid of honor, wearing a mint green floor length dress and a bowed headdress with a shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was of daisies and green velvet streamers. The bridesmaids, Miss Lynne Reynolds, Miss Ruth Kohler, Miss Diane Larson, and Miss Cathy Neilson, were gowned identically to the maid of honor. Miss Michele Peterson, cousin of the bride, acted as junior bridesmaid. She was gowned in yellow taffeta and, like the bridesmaids, carried a bouquet of daisies with streamers of yellow velvet. The flower girl was Miss Julie Lynn Arnold, niece of the bride. Her gown and flowers were styled like the junior bridesmaids.

Best man was Mr. Jeffrey Arnold, brother-in-law of the bride. The ushers were Mr. Joseph Whyte, brother of the groom; Mr. Daniel Repine, cousin of the bride; and Mr. Larry Vicini, Mr. Roger Morris and Mr. Dean Graziano.

The mother of the bride selected a light blue sheath with white accessories for the occasion, and was given a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a black and white striped jersey with black accessories. She also had a pink rosebud corsage.

Two hundred guests attended the reception in St. Michael's Center, Sheffield, which was decorated with wedding bells and streamers of yellow, green and white. On the bride's table was arranged a centerpiece of daisies and gladioli and candelabra.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Repine, uncle and aunt of the bride, served as master and mistress of ceremonies. Aides were Mrs. Dennis Repine, Mrs. Wilbur Repine, Mrs. James Repine, Mrs. William Peterson, Mrs. Peter Kosinski, Mrs. Sarah Wolbert and Mrs. Edward Peterson, aunts of the bride; Miss Mary Blume and Miss Colleen Peterson, cousins of the bride, and Miss Linda Germonio. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Diane Becker, was in charge of the punch bowl, and Mrs. Jeffrey Arnold took care of the guest book.

The new Mrs. Whyte is a 1968 graduate of Warren Area High School. The groom graduated from Warren Area High School in 1965. He served two tours of duty with the Marines in Vietnam, and is now with the U.S. Marines First Division at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The couple will make their home there.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Linda Arnold and Miss Ruth Kohler. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Repine gave the rehearsal dinner.

Out-of-town guests were present from Chambersburg, Pa.; East Lake, Ohio; Wellfleet, Ohio; Sugar Grove, Russell and Sheffield, Pa.; and Sinclairville, N.Y.

Brokenstraw Garden Club Holds Tureen

The Brokenstraw Garden Club met Thursday evening for its regular monthly meeting, with twenty-four members and four guests present.

At 6:30 a tureen dinner was served. Ernest and Lena Hendrickson, Margie Finlan and Blanche Anderson hosted the affair. Four members of the Job Corps were guests, and Mr. Flanders, Counselor, gave a talk. He then conducted a question-answer period.

The next meeting will be the July 11 picnic.

Wendy A. Blair Becomes Bride of Kevin R. Quinn

Miss Wendy Ann Blair, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Louis Blair of 108 East st., Warren and Delray Beach, Florida, became the bride of Kevin Robert Quinn on Saturday, June 1, 1968.

The 11 o'clock in the morning nuptial mass was held at St. Vincent Ferrer Church, Delray Beach, with the Rev. John A. Skehan, pastor, and the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Eugene A. Loftus, P.A., of St. Mark's Church, Buffalo, N.Y., officiating.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Francis Joseph Quinn of NE Seventh Avenue, Delray Beach, and the late Mr. Quinn.

Church decorations included two spray arrangements of white gladioli and stock and yellow fugi mums and roses which were placed on each side of the altar. The altar rail was banked with fresh greens and two large standing baskets of the same yellow and white flowers flanked the kneeling bench. The pews were marked with arrangements of white chrysanthemums, baby breath and yellow pom poms backed with greens.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a close body styled gown of white imported silk ribbon and lace with ivory fluting of silk organza trimming the Edwardian collar, long sleeves and jabot front. Her three-tiered fingertip veil of English illusion was held by a small headpiece beaded with seed pearls and applied in Ivory Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, daisies, stock and baby breath with trailing ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Cathy Frigo of Delray Beach, wore a Gibson-look outfit, fashioned in aqua and white. Her headpiece was aqua velvet ribbon and daisies, and she carried a basket of yellow roses, aqua daisies and white stock with trailing ivy.

Frank Reed of Detroit, Mich., was best man. Ushering were John Louis Blair III, brother of the bride, and Alan Barbaree, both of Delray Beach.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Blair wore an ensemble of champagne beige, re-embroidered Brussels lace with matching flowered veil, and a corsage of beige cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a gown of spruce blue raw silk and matching flowered hat. Her corsage was white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Orville Thompson, the bride's maternal grandmother was remembered with a white orchid corsage, and Mrs. John L. Blair, paternal grandmother of the bride, a green cymbidium corsage.

A reception at Blair House, residence of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The bridal table was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses, daisies and baby breath in a crystal and silver epergne with extensions of crystal flowers containing yellow roses, baby breath and ivy. The buffet table held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses and baby breath, and a crystal and silver epergne held a stylized arrangement of yellow and white flowers.

The newlyweds will reside at 1486 G-3 Bouldercrest Dr., in Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Quinn presently is employed.

The bride is a graduate of St. Ann's School for Girls, Palm Beach, and now is a student at Massey Junior College in Atlanta. Mr. Quinn graduated from St. Leo's Preparatory School, St. Leo, Fla., and has served four years in the United States Air Force.

7th Day Adventists Tonight

The Seventh-day Adventist Camp Meeting begins this evening at the Grace Methodist Church in Warren. Elder R. W. Taylor, a well-known evangelist, will be this evening's speaker, with a sermon entitled "Remember Lot's Daughters." The program will start at 7:30. All interested members of the community are invited to attend.

Saturday morning at 9:30 the Sabbath School program will be under W. M. Elder Jr., who is the General Conference Sabbath School Superintendent.

"The Remnant Church" is the title of the sermon to be given at the 11:00 worship service by Elder J. C. Kozel, General Conference Assistant Treasurer.

Saturday afternoon there will be a co-ordinated evangelism discussion at 2:30.

In the evening Elder Kozel will speak once again at 7:30. The subject of his talk will be "The Finishing of the Work." At this service there will also be pictures shown from a recent trip to the Far East. Elder Kozel made this trip accompanied by Pastor R. N. Flier.

Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smead, Star Route, Sheffield, announce the engagement of their daughter Mary, to Gary Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bullock, 202 North Main st., Clarendon.

Plans are being made for the wedding at a later date.

An elephant may indeed be frightened by a mouse, the National Geographic Society says. A herd may actually stampede when one of its members is startled by a sound that it cannot immediately identify.

TRUDY STANTON — GUEST COLUMNIST

BEING CHAUTAUQUA REPORTER THIS SEASON, I have come across some interesting information concerning the Institution. This year marks its 95th season which will open Thursday, June 27 and close August 25. This truly unique summer center on Chautauqua Lake is geared to family vacationing and offers noted guest artists, inspirational religious speakers, morning lectures and a summer school program.

Chautauqua was founded in 1874 as a summer training school for church leaders. It quickly expanded and became the first summer school in the U. S. and today is the oldest continuous summer music festival in America. It is also the summer home of many families from cities across the nation who have been returning for generations to this famous lakeside resort.

A gate fee entitles visitors and residents admission to practically all program events except summer school classes, plays and operas. Major musical attractions are presented in the 7000 seat open air amphitheater.

Complete information about a Chautauqua vacation may be obtained by writing to Chautauqua Institution, Box 1095, Chautauqua, New York, 14722 and requesting the Information Book and the Official 1968 Program Book.

During the impressive ceremonies, Warren County Commissioner Dr. David K. Rice presented a special plaque to State Police Commissioner Col. Frank McKetta. Dr. Rice and his wife, Alice, traveled some 170 miles to Hershey from Seven Springs, where they are currently vacationing. They return to their home on River Road Sunday.

Judith Kintner Weds William Wentz

With Ann Kintner and William Walton Wentz were united in marriage on Monday, June 21, in Holy Redeemer Church. Rev. Father Joseph Seyd performed the nuptial service in the presence of several guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kintner, 111 Fourth Avenue, Warren. The groom is the son of Mrs. William Wentz of 202 Park Lane, Upper Darby, Penna., and late Mr. Wentz.

Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, church organist, provided the music. White gladiolus and white carnations were set in wedding vases on the altar for the double ceremony.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white streetlength straight-line dress with short sleeves and an inverted pleat and a bow in back. The scooped neck and back were of crepe lined with satin, as were the sleeves. Her shoes were white satin. Two rows of net tucks accented by crystal held the elbow length bouffant veil in place. The bridal bouquet was a nosegay of white carnations, with a red rose in the center. The bride carried a white lace-trimmed handkerchief belonging to her grandmother.

Miss Cynthia Wentz of Upper Darby, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. The bridesmaid was Miss Rebecca Wood of Warren. Both wore streetlength yellow summer dresses with white trim, matching circular-veil headdresses, and matching shoes. Each carried a single long-stemmed red rose. The headpieces were fashioned by the bride.

The bride's niece, Miss Cynthia Kintner, served as flower girl. Her dress was identical to the bridesmaid's and she carried a miniature of the bridal bouquet.

The best man was Kenneth Moore of Upper Darby, a fraternity brother of the groom. Mr. Samuel Wentz, brother of the groom, from Upper Darby, was usher.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue jacket dress with white accessories. The groom's mother chose a powder blue lace dress and carried white accessories. Both received white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Eunice Osborn and Mrs. Ethel Kintner, grandmothers, were also given white carnation corsages.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM WENTZ

A reception was given for seventy-five guests at the Penn Laurel Motel. The decorations included bud vases with roses. The wedding cake was decorated in white and yellow.

Aides were Mrs. Morris Kintner Jr., Mrs. Alfred Heubach, Miss Shirley Simmons, Mrs. John Fees, all wearing white carnation corsages; and Miss Kim Heubach, who was in charge of the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip across the United States, the bride selected a yellow arnel suit with beige accessories and a corsage of carnations. The couple will live in Canoga Park, California, near Los Angeles.

The new Mrs. Wentz, a graduate of Jamestown School of Practical Nursing, has worked at Warren General Hospital. The groom received his B.S. degree in Engineering from Pennsylvania State University in June. He will work for the Rocketdyne Division of North American Rockwell in Los Angeles, while continuing his studies at the University of California at Los Angeles. He was a member of Alpha Zeta fraternity while at Penn State.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Philip Lauffenburger, Mrs. Alfred Heubach, Mrs. Morris Kintner Jr., Mrs. M.L. Satterlund, and Mrs. John Fees. The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's mother at the Pittsfield Inn.

Guests attended from State College, Penna.; Upper Darby, Penna.; Jamestown, N. Y.; and Madera, Penna.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 5-year-old daughter is ruining our marriage. This may sound absurd, but it is true. Two months ago Francine called for her daddy in the middle of the night. She said she was having bad dreams and wanted her daddy near so nobody could hurt her. We took her into our bed and she quieted down and went right to sleep.

For the past three weeks Francine has pulled this bad dream routine every night. I am exhausted and a nervous wreck. I cannot sleep with the child between us. I've told my husband Francine might have had a bad dream once or twice, but now she is using it as an excuse to get into our bed.

He accuses me of being jealous of my own daughter. The two of us have been at each other's throats continually. In the meantime, Francine is aware that she is causing trouble and is enjoying it immensely. Please give me some advice. ASUNDERED

Dear Asundered: The female competition in your family is terrific. Francine enjoys being in the middle in more ways than one.

Your husband should wise up and not allow this mini-seductress to come between him and his wife.

Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems of children. Ask him to explain Francine's racket to her daddy. He needs educating. The 5-year-old has outsmarted him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister's husband died three years ago. Sally went into a depression and the doctor suggested she go to work and get her mind off herself. (She has no children.) At work, Sally met a married man whose wife is in a mental hospital. They fell madly in love, which makes no sense for a woman 43 years old.

She is ruining the family name because of her shameless behavior. She goes everywhere with this man, even to church. I love my sister and I want her to have a respectable life. I've talked to her until I am blue in the face but she tells me she cannot give him up and he needs her as much as she needs him.

Shall I go to the man and tell him he is married and to leave my sister alone? INTERESTED YVONNE

Dear Yvonne: It is not necessary for you to go to the man and tell him he is married. He knows it. Your signature raises some questions in my mind. Why are you so "Interested"? Granted, the affair is out of bounds and your sister may well regret it, but it's her decision to make, not yours. M.Y.Q.B.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass 1 2 2 2
3 3 3 Pass 4
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣. Perfect timing and complete cooperation were essential ingredients to a successful defensive effort by East and West against South's four spade contract.

North opened the bidding with one diamond, East overcalled with two clubs and South freely bid two spades. West offered a distributional raise to three clubs and North competed with three spades South carried on to four spades and, to his opponents' dismay, he had an economical one trick save available at five clubs, they chose to take their chances on defeating the major suit game.

West opened the three of clubs, North played the king and East won the trick with the ace. East observed that South had followed with the nine and, in view of West's raise to three clubs, the prospects for cashing another trick in that suit appeared somewhat remote.

Since West was marked with at least one high card for his entry into the auction, East led the ace of diamonds at trick two in the hope of obtaining a ruff. This might come about if West held either the king of diamonds, or else a quick entry in trumps.

Inasmuch as East had made no attempt to cash a second club trick, West was able to read his partner's intentions when the latter shifted to diamonds. Altho West did not have a high diamond himself, nevertheless, he signaled vigorously with the nine of diamonds, to encourage a continuation.

East returned the three of diamonds and South was in. He led a trump. West played the ace of spades and then led back a third diamond. East ruffed with the five of spades for the setting trick.

The diamond shift at trick two by East was vital to defensive strategy. If he attempts to cash a second club trick, for example, the initiative is surrendered to declarer. South ruffs in and leads a trump. West is in with the ace of spades; however, he is unable to give his partner a diamond ruff — and, when South regains the lead, he draws trump.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, June 21, 1968.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Day has many opportunities, but you may be called upon to make some weighty decisions. However, this should not daunt the well-developed Aries who, even in the most critical moments, thinks clearly and astutely.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Do not procrastinate in important matters. There's a tendency now to "put off until later," shunt aside, refuse to face facts.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Try to avoid making drastic changes in your schedule. It could delay you, disturb others working with you. Keep everything on an even keel. Original ideas, writings stimulated.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Some plans may have to be changed, so consider revisions as soon as their need become obvious. You do not usually procrastinate, but everyone falters at times.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—This can be a day of significant achievement—if you are ready, willing and able. Any needed cooperation will be available now.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You should make fairly good headway in most activities, but don't go off on tangents or scatter energies. It could offset best endeavors.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Do not become involved in matters which do not really concern you, but DO take an interest in new trends within your own field.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—If you have difficulties on the job, explain them to superiors or co-workers whom you can trust. Then act—and move forward under helpful influences.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Study the methods used by successful persons, add your own know-how and the lessons of past experience. Then do some more studying. In this way you can assure the success of your endeavors.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Expand in operations going well, setting a better pace for speedier results. Capricornians are known for their clever management and organizational ability. Stress these traits now.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You may not only be able to learn by both, but may be able to settle matters in such a way as to win the admiration and confidence of others.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—More gains indicated than you may anticipate. But there will be SOME obstacles, so pick your way alertly and cautiously—but without anxiety.

YOU BORN TODAY number among the world's most unusual achievers. You are keen, versatile, sensitive; also restless and changeable. You have original ideas which you can carry out so successfully that you delight superiors and co-workers, and you can also pick up an old project which others have discarded as unfeasible, give it a new twist and make it WORK. Whatever you take on as your life's work, keep educating yourself along that line so that you can stay in the front of achievement. The clever individual sometimes gets by on his wits but forgets that this is not the recipe for lasting success. Many journalists, musicians, architects and designers have been Gemini-born.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

MUSTY ALLERGENS

Persons sensitive to fungi may have symptoms whenever they step into a musty room, damp basement, or old barn. Mold allergy also is prevalent among men and women who repair old bedding or overstuffed chairs and sofas, as well as among gardeners, fruit and vegetable workers, and botanists. The same can be said of those who are exposed to molds in grain and dust mills.

The individual who lives or works in damp, musty surroundings is difficult to treat because the amount of exposure is too great to counteract with medicines and desensitization. Many persons who are susceptible to the pollen of ragweed, trees, and grasses are sensitive also to molds. Unless the combination is known, treatment seldom is successful.

It is easy to overlook the double trouble because pollens are the commonest offenders and when tests with these irritants are positive, molds are not considered. Improvement follows desensitization to pollens, but asthma and hay fever never disappear completely. They are kept alive by forgotten molds.

Allergy to molds is suspected whenever asthma and summer colds continue long after ragweed is dead. The frequency of allergic symptoms from fungi varies in different parts of the country. The incidence is highest in the midwest and less so along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Diagnosis is made via skin testing. Hyposensitization with mold extracts is successful in 80 to 90 per cent of victims with mold allergies, and is advocated to keep the over-all allergic processes from becoming too firmly established.

TOMORROW: Diet for Oldsters.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY

N. D. writes: What can you tell me about muscular dystrophy?

REPLY

This is a neuromuscular disorder in which there is progressive wasting and weakness of various muscles. In one form that is partial to children, the muscle fibers are replaced with scar tissue. The muscles are greatly enlarged but too weak to be of practical value. Muscular dystrophy is an hereditary disease that favors males. The cause is not known and treatment is unsatisfactory.

YANKING CHILD'S ARM

Mrs. T. writes: Some mothers lift young children over the curb by grasping one hand or arm. Couldn't this practice injure the bones or muscles?

REPLY

Yes. When the arm is yanked, the bone at the elbow is displaced and slips under a nearby ligament. With the release of pressure, the ligament gets caught in the joint. The tissue will work itself loose in time, but meanwhile, the tot is left with a painful arm.

FATTY SWELLINGS

D. N. writes: Is there any cure for Dercum's disease?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. This disease is manifested by painful localized fatty swellings and usually affects women. In some instances the fatty deposits on trunk and upper limbs disappear spontaneously. In others, the condition is progressive and the person becomes exceedingly obese. Some have reached 300 pounds.

Pressures Rise Over Low Water Pressure

By LOIS McCLOSKEY

To calm all persons who felt they were misquoted, aggrieved, or otherwise upset, following last Tuesday's (June 11) report of the Monday night Council meeting, here are the facts. All Council meetings are reported by telephone from this reporter's notes immediately following the meeting, in order to make the Tuesday TMO. While Council is the sounding board for everyone's troubles and does hear them fairly at all times, problems are often presented which are not within their jurisdiction to handle or solve. The Water Department, under the Tidoute Public Utility System is owned by the South West Authority, is bonded by the Warren National Bank and gets its directives from Chester Engineers of Pittsburgh who handle all of the feasibility reports, Borough Council in turn, leases the Water Department from the South West Authority. It writes the checks for all labor entailed in the Water Department, but in turn it bills the Authority for the checks written.

It was unfortunate that George Morrison, superintendent of the Water Dept., was not notified of the Council meeting so he could be present to give accurate and quick answers to all questions asked by the five representatives from Limestone Township who were present to protest low water pressure, frequently no water, or muddy and rusty water. Morrison knows every inch of water pipe, when it was cleaned or flushed, as well as he knows his children's names.

For those who do not know what has caused the situation in Limestone Township, here are the facts since water was first piped across the river. We secured this information from Morrison, later last week.

The first water line of one and one-half inches was installed by Limestone Twp., in 1928. At that time it supplied about half a dozen homes. Later the Tidoute Water Co., (owned at that time by the late Fred Shaw and Frank Kapp) took over the line and added service as homes increased. When the water supply became inadequate, Kapp had a 3,000 gallon reservoir built which is situated behind the present Karl Merkle residence above the road on Route 62. By 1962, when the Water Co. was purchased by George B.

King and John Christy, there still was not enough water to service the additional customers. Just prior to their acquisition, Shaw had purchased two-inch pipe for an additional line under the river, this the new owners laid in 1962.

Since that time, homes and summer camps have sprung up like mushrooms. Now the Water Dept. is faced with 80 customers, all with three-fourths inch lead pipes to their homes, with only the one and one-half and two-inch pipe lines to supply them.

The Water Department is well aware that something must be done to better the situation for the Limestone customers, but it can do nothing without orders from Chester Engineers. Morrison said a feasibility is now overdue since May 15; that he called the firm twice Monday, with the promise of a call back at 1:30 p.m., which did not come through. Since then he has put in two more calls with no success.

Since Sam Konkle, chairman of the Council water committee, said attempts would be made this past week to better the Limestone situation, we asked Morrison what had been done. First, he said the lines had been flushed early in the spring (a question which Konkle could not answer Monday night).

"We flushed them again Wed. (June 12) and since then have installed stops in the lines to give more water pressure to those above the road on Route 62, where the pressure is low every weekend while campers are here. Drive down the river any Saturday during the summer and you will see a great many campers hosing their porches, the car, or watering the lawn or flowers, while the faucets on the upper side of the road drip a few drops. By Monday, there is plenty of water above the road and it isn't muddy."

To refer to Konkle again, he has served on the water committee only since the resignation of William Allen. In all fairness to him, he answered to the best of his knowledge the question, "When have the lines been flushed," by saying "Never to my knowledge." Konkle has had to take raps on more than one occasion. He works many hours on the Water Dept. problems, and for those who think he is making money on it, just remember, "He isn't one of those Dollar-A-Year men, he doesn't get paid one cent."

To further explain the Water Dept. situation, its gross receipts per year amount to $22,000. Of this $11,000 is due each year to the bonding company. This leaves just $11,000 for the superintendent's salary, and other labor, the purchase of new equipment, and all materials and supplies needed for maintenance and repairs.

Returning to Monday's Council meeting, under new business, president Robinson asked that anyone having or knowing of fill dirt or rocks to deposit it back of the Borough building where fill is needed along the bank.

Meter collections for May totaled $307.22 and fines $57.85.

Rita Jeanne Sutton Weds Joseph Vincent Heenan Jr.

Miss Rita Jeanne Sutton and Joseph Vincent Heenan Jr., were united in marriage on Saturday, June 15, at 10 a.m. in the St. John's Catholic Church, Tidoute, in the presence of 300 guests.

The Rev. Arthur Fleckenstein, pastor, performed the double ring ritual with a Nuptial Mass. He later read a Papal Blessing sent to the couple by Pope Paul VI.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sutton, Tidoute, RD 1. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Heenan Sr., 9 Second street, Tidoute.

Miss Julia Wojciechowski provided the organ music. Soloists were Mrs. Robert Schwab and Mrs. George Atkin Jr. The altar was decorated with two urns of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli, backed by eight white tapers.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white tulle overlaid with nylon chiffon in an over-cage effect. The jewel neckline, bodice front and bottom of the skirt were trimmed in daisies embossed with seed pearls. The short sleeves, the bottom of the gown, and the chapel length train, of nylon chiffon, were edged in satin. Her unadorned veil consisted of many tiers of nylon tulle of shoulder length.

The bride carried a round bouquet of white roses and stephanotis accented with white lace streamers. After the ceremony, the bride placed a white rose corsage on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary as Mrs. Robert Schwab sang "I Consecrate to Mary."

The matron of honor was Mrs. Timothy Francis, Cleveland, Ohio, a classmate of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Sutton, sister of the bride, Miss Peggy Heenan, sister of the groom, Mrs. James Martin, and Miss Lynn Ulf, both of Tidoute.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore identically fashioned, floor length gowns featuring tulle sheaths overlaid in A-line with dotted net, having empire waists, jewel necklines and short sleeves. The neck, sleeves, waistline and bottom of the gowns were edged with daisy trim. All of the attendant's headpieces were of green nylon tulle with head bands of daisies in yellow, white and green. The matron of honor was gowned in green, the bridesmaids in Spring yellow. All carried colonial bouquets of daisies.

Patrick Heenan, youngest brother of the groom, served as his best man. The ushers were: Frank Atkin, Roger Gill, John McManigle and Jack Shields.

The mother of the bride wore a beige crepe sheath with full-length lace coat and navy blue accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. The mother of the groom chose a sheath gown of yellow linen with full length white embroidered front panel, and white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. Mrs. J. Alfred Sutton and Mrs. Charles Barton, grandmother's of the bride, were presented with corsages.

A reception was held from twelve until four p.m. at the Brokenstraw Fish and Game Club for six hundred guests who were served a buffet luncheon.

Miss Jane Heenan, sister of the groom, and Miss Dena Sutton, sister of the bride, were in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Joseph Thomas, a cousin of the bride's father, baked the four-tiered wedding cake.

For the wedding trip through the mid-southern states, the bride chose a green linen dress with white accessories. At 78 Main street, Tidoute, the bride and groom will reside at the Tidoute Hotel. The bride is a graduate of Hamot Hospital, Erie, Pa. The groom also is a TMS graduate, owns his business, the Heenan Excavation Company.

A pre-nuptial affair was given by Mrs. James Martin of Tidoute. The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at their home, 9 Second st., Tidoute.

Out-of-town guests were present from Philadelphia, Lancaster, Franklin, Oil City, Titusville, Pleasantville, Grand Valley, Warren and Youngs-ville, Pa., and from Cleveland and Painesville, Ohio.

WCTU Poster Winners

At the June 11th meeting of the WCTU held at the home of Mrs. Krug Cyphert, 25 school students were named as winners of the annually sponsored poster contest of the WCTU.

Mrs. Harriette Courson, president, had charge of devotions using "Wayside Ministry," as her theme and read from the 10th chapter of Mark. Mrs. Cyphert closed with the prayer.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Arthur King read a letter of thanks from the Veterans at the hospital in Erie, for the two boxes recently sent to them by the WCTU. The contents of the boxes were valued at $75.

Projects for the coming year include: the saving of used Christmas cards, the making of scrap books for children's homes and hospital wards; and trips to the Rouse Home to assist with sewing projects.

Mrs. Elliot Lanning, program leader for the day, used "Open your Heart and Arms," as her theme and read an article, "A Way to Peace all around the World."

Since this was Flower Mission day, the group made 12 bouquets which they delivered to 12 shut-ins in Tidoute.

Poster winners were as follows: 12th grade: Fritz Anderson, Paul Morrison, Barbara Cook and Sandra Morrison, 11th grade: Jerry Heltzel, Susanne Bailor and Kathy Glenn, 10th grade: Wayne Edmiston, Dallas Morrison and Debbie Stover. Each of these students received a one dollar prize.

Those receiving fifty cent prizes were: 8th grade: Linda Raybuck, Patricia Cook, 6th grade: Garry Barnes, Dennis King, Stacey Styles, Jill Daehlhousen, 5th grade: Gregory Morrison, Bobby Pillar, Debbie Weller, Laura Raybuck, 4th grade: Andy McGraw, Phyllis Anderson, Curtis Tipton, Pat Stewart, Linda Garus.

Vets Give School Band Big Boost

The Pequignot - Yeager Post 8803 recently gave our school band a big boost by donating the sum of $200 toward the purchase of new band uniforms.

Presently the Post is busy preparing for the Fourth of July fireworks which it will set off on the river bank below the bridge at dusk on Friday, July 5th.

Not to be left out, is the Ladies Auxiliary which is serving broasted chickens on the Post lawn throughout the day, rain or shine, on July 5th, and will then sponsor a street dance that same night beginning at 9 p. m. Yodelin' Shorty recording artist of station WWVA, Wheeling, West Va., and his gang will provide music for round and square dancing.

INTERNATIONAL STARS

For their 1968 performance, Hoxie Bros. 3-Ring Circus has imported international circus stars from the top circuses of the world. Pictured above is Miss Canestrelli of Italy, Miss Carmen of Spain, and Miss Consuelo of Mexico, representing only three of the many countries sending circus stars to the big Hoxie Bros. Circus. This famous circus will be in Tidoute on Wed. July 3 for performances at 2 and 8 p.m. Advance tickets are being sold now by the Lions Club of Tidoute.

Honor Students Honored at Tea

At a candlelight service on June 4, three juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society by the TMS president Janice McGraw. Receiving pins were Shelly Sheldon, Sally Ziegler and Judith Yucha. At the same time ten senior National Honor Society students received pins.

Following the service, Mrs. Alma Fuelhart, the Society sponsor, and the senior class gave a tea to honor the parents and Society members in the school auditorium.

Investigators Begin Search For Clues to Plane Crash

READING, Pa. (AP) — Investigators began trying to reconstruct Thursday a twin-engine plane that crashed and burned in cornfield in northern Berks County killing six persons.

The plane, circling south to avoid storms in New York state, hit the ground during a severe electrical storm Wednesday night.

"We heard the roar of an engine and then an explosion," said John Jacoby, on whose farm the plane crashed. "I didn't realize it was a plane until I saw the flames. I had thought a car hit a tree."

Identifications were delayed more than 12 hours because the fire blackened the bodies beyond recognition.

State police and the sheriff's office in Erie County, N.Y., said the pilot was Robert D. Page, 37, of Eden, N.Y.

The other victims were identified as Wilford D. Samuelson, 52, Hamburg, N.Y., a director of the Oil Heat Institute of Western New York; Paul Macakanja, 25, of Gowanda, N.Y., an auto sales agency employee; Robert H. Landon, 30, of Tonawanda, N.Y., a communications equipment salesman; and Sharon Cornell, 17, and Cynthia Stressing, 16, both of Eden, N.Y.

A seventh man, Irving Kubasiak, 42, of Collins, N.Y., had originally been listed among the dead, but State Police reported later that he was not aboard the plane.

A member of Kubasiak's family said she had spoken to him by phone.

The young girls were believed friends of the pilot and had gone along sightseeing.

The flight information listed a seventh person aboard the plane, but state police said they found just the six bodies. "We're down there looking again, but still have only six," said a state police spokesman Thursday afternoon.

Page and Samuelson were members and officials of a fuel oil organization. A spokesman for the National Fuel Oil Institute, said Page as president of the fuel oil heat institute of western New York, and a director of the national institute. Samuelson recently was named executive director of the Oil Heat Institute of New York.

Autopsies were performed at Reading Hospital Thursday.

The plane, a Cessna 401, was flying from White Plains, N.Y., to Dunkirk, N.Y., but apparently had changed its route to escape the severe storms raking part of New York state. The plane had flown from Dunkirk to White Plains earlier in the day, authorities said.

Witnesses said the crash occurred in a rural area near Centerport during a violent storm.

One witness said he heard a noise "like a hot rod." She said she went outside to look and saw the plane, outlined by flashes of lightning, in a deadly spin toward earth.

When it hit, she said, it burst into flames "that lit up the sky."

Jacoby said, "My two sons and I ran up to it. There was nothing we could do. The wreckage was over a large area."

Berks County firemen extinguished the flames and helped state police recover the bodies.

Aviation authorities said the plane was owned by Teterboro Aircraft Services Inc., of Teterboro, N.J., but was registered to Air Associates of Dunkirk, N.Y.

They said the plane took off from White Plains about 7:15 p.m., but almost immediately encountered bad weather.

They said it was being controlled by New York Air Control Center in Ronkonkoma, N.Y., which lost radio and radar contact with it about 9:15 p.m. Authorities said the plane was then about 8,000 feet.

Pennsylvania Happenings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They're finally cleaning out those hundreds of shoe boxes on the Pennsylvania State University campus.

And the cardboard cartons, the old filing cabinets and some temporary storage shelves.

Soon Penn State's Department of Anthropology is going to open to public display more than $30,000 worth of antique and modern artifacts in its new "Museum of Non-Western Man."

Headquarters of the new museum is an old World War II theater moved piece by piece in 1945 from Lebanon, Pa. It first was used as a student union building, then a playhouse and conference center, and now it's the main offices for anthropology research.

For years, Penn State's prize collections of Oriental glass, Indonesian musical instruments, Mexican pottery, a 17th century stone age tools and other relics of early man were hidden in the shoe boxes—for lack of proper display space.

Now the new museum, headed by Frank P. Saul, is expected to turn into one of the university's prize attractions.

"The key feature of the museum, the feature that authorizes it for function as the primary integrating structure of the undergraduate anthropology program, is the museum's holdings of ethnic, archaeological and human biological collections," says Saul.

"Materials extracted from our field schools—such as Sheep Rock in Huntingdon County—as well as faculty expeditions to Peru, Guatemala, Afghanistan and Africa can become permanent parts of the museum collection."

All the stuff—naturally—will be responsive to student study. Which is the main reason for it all, anyway!

SHADES OF ADAM & EVE: Snakes are becoming more popular with man, insist Professor Phares H. Hertzog, 87-year-old naturalist on the Elizabethtown College faculty.

Note he says "man" which infers the ladies still don't like snakes, in any shape or form. And how does Hertzog reach his conclusion? He points to organized snake hunts and the growing number of reptile houses and exhibits.

The National Science Foundation gave him a $9,500 award for cancer and virus studies....Pennsylvania State University, concerned that some students avoid libraries because they are too far away, has opened up three branches on the main campus, all within walking distance of dorms and fraternity houses. Each now has about 2,000 volumes, eventually will be built up to 10,000.
